

VILLA MANIN

The majestic ensemble of Villa Manin, located in Passariano, near Udine, is one of the most important artistic monuments in Friuli Venezia Giulia.

It was commissioned in the 17th century by Ludovico Manin I to celebrate the power and wealth of the family.

The structure consists in a central block, the family's residence and several quarters, where agricultural activities were performed. Visitors access the Villa through a pleasant entrance-hall which opens onto the richly-frescoed room. The central salon was the splendid venue for many historic meetings and events.

Visiting Villa Manin also gives you a chance to admire its permanent museum collections and the splendid chapel, decorated in Baroque style with a lot of sculptures and paintings.

The Villa is immersed in an 18-hectare century-old walled-in park, where concerts and festivals are often held.

CUISINE

To taste typically Friulian dishes like Frico (potatoes and cheese), Polenta or Tagliolini with San Daniele ham, we recommend "Matteotti", a restaurant in Piazza San Giacomo, a fine dinner for an unforgettable evening.

The tajut: in the late afternoon after work, people usually meet in one of the traditional osterias like "La Polse" for "un taj di chel bon", a good glass of wine and a typical bruschetta with tomato sauce or bacon.

Also historic cafes like "Contarena" are worth a visit. Drinking a coffee in a historical setting like Udine's city centre, is like travelling back in time.

The Friulian historical city of Udine is situated in the centre of the region and is ringed by the Alps.

The city is dominated by the Castle and while enjoying yourself in the city centre you can feel the influence of the Austrian Empire in the lively café society but also of the Venetian domination in the elegant and historical buildings and squares.

ART LOVERS

Udine has a lot to offer to those interested in art.

There is a network of Museums, like the Civic Museum containing pieces of ancient art, the Galleries of History and Art in the Castle with a rich historical and artistic archive, the Diocesan Museum and Tiepolo Galleries, the former exhibits important masterpieces from the 13th to the 18th century while the latter highlights Gianbattista Tiepolo's works; last but not least, the Cathedral Museum with its significant patrimony regarding history, culture and art of the Patriarchate of Aquileia.

Here you can find a wide range of wines and taste both excellent red and white wines.

An important event in Udine is the Friuli Doc, it is a four-day festival during the second week of September and it is the synthesis of the Friulian culture, cuisine and wines.

PALMANOVA

Palmanova was built in the 16th century by order of the Serenissima Republic to defend its border in Friuli.

It was designed with the shape of a nine-pointed star for military reasons and today is a National Monument.

During the second week of July, the suggestive historic commemoration celebrating the Most Serene Republic of Venice and the founding of the city takes place. It consists in a procession in seventeenth-century costumes, a carousel of knights and contests between villages.

Interesting are also the Monumental Gates, the only buildings visible from the outside of the fortress and the Piazza d'Armi, the great square located in the exact center in an hexagonal area;

here you can enjoy the view while having a coffee in a typical bar.
